HACKNEY'S PUBLIC SECTOR STRIKE

WHAT'S OUT

The government wants to increase the retirement age from 65 to 68 and increase the amount public sector workers have to pay toward their pensions. Make no mistake, this is the first shot in a coming assault on pension provision. We need to beat back this attack and then need to use that momentum to fight for better pensions and a decent retirement age in both the public and private sectors.

Good pay and conditions in one workplace put upward pressure on pay and conditions elsewhere, while bad ones become an excuse to attack the living standards of all workers. Don't be next up for cutbacks, help hold the line here. Join the pickets.
